

Follow our Service Project online

If you're keen to follow our travels in Cambodia, be sure to visit our blog each day for regular updates.

You can find us at <http://cambodiaproject09.wordpress.com/>

We'll share the writing tasks around the team, and each evening one or two of us will post a report on the day's activities.

We'd love you to write your own comments in response to our posts. These can only be made visible once we approve them, so they will usually become public 24 hours after you write them.

You will also note in the image below that there are a number of other pages on the blog. If you need to find any information about where we will be and what we will be doing at any time, you can find it here.

Please feel free to share this information with any family and friends who are interested in our service project. You might even wish to email them this flyer, which can be downloaded from the Resources page (<http://cambodiaproject09.wordpress.com/resources/>).

Best wishes from the Cambodia Service Project team of 2009
